Speech Analysis

Speaker: De voorzitter Party: nan

Speech: "On the agenda are the General Political Considerations. I warmly welcome the Members of Parliament, the ministers in section K, the Prime Minister and the Minister of Finance. The Minister of Health, Welfare and Sport is on his way. I also welcome the Minister of Agriculture, Nature and Food Quality and the Minister of Social Affairs and Employment. The Minister of the Interior and Kingdom Relations has a family funeral and will be present again tomorrow. I would of course also like to welcome the people in the public gallery and the viewers at home. Today we are discussing the first term on the part of the House. I will of course allow room for mutual debate. I do request that you keep the interruptions short and concise and to interrupt in a maximum of three. A number of points of order have been announced. First of all, I give the floor to Mr Klaver of GroenLinks for his point of order.”

Speech Analysis

Speaker: De heer Klaver Party: GroenLinks

Speech: “Chair. Yesterday, Mark Rutte, in his role as outgoing Prime Minister, indicated in a conversation with the press that there is actually no longer a coalition. This makes it more logical to me that today we are talking in order of size and not in budget order. That’s the point I’d like to make. I think this better reflects the current political situation.”

Speech Analysis

Speaker: De heer Wilders Party: PVV

Speech: "Chair. This is so transparent. This is so lame. The only intention is not to let the PVV and me speak first. They have now come up with an excuse for that. Everyone at home knows this very well, Mr. Klaver. The PVV is not the first, Mrs Kaag is absent, Wilders is not the first speaker: it is too bland for words and too bland to respond to. But of course I don't support it."

Speech Analysis

Speaker: De heer Baudet Party: FVD

Speech: "I agree with what Mr Wilders said. But the argument is also flawed. Mr Rutte may have said that there is no coalition, but we are really talking about a government that may be outgoing, but that is really managing on the most important issues of today. They want to be missionary in all their climate plans. They are also missionary about the whole corona situation. Those are the big themes. Afghanistan is playing now. There are so many big topics. So of course: the country is governed. There is a de facto government."

Speech Analysis

Speaker: Mevrouw Marijnissen Party: SP

Speech: "As far as the SP is concerned, the order of speakers is perhaps the least interesting thing today. I find the following interesting. I would like to make a request for that. I want us to get a serious update, a state of affairs, of how that formation currently stands. Because indeed, no one knows anymore. Is there still a cabinet or is there no cabinet? We hear members of the coalition say: the coalition no longer exists. But in the meantime, someone, a political leader, is not present at this debate, because she did not think it would be appropriate to be part of a still existing cabinet and at the same time conduct the debate here from the House. I don't know anymore. Yesterday the House requested Mr Remkes to provide a state of affairs. That was dismissed with a very limited note that actually contained nothing. I would therefore like to ask whether at least the key players in that formation could update the House on this, so that we know in which context we are conducting this debate today."

Speech Analysis

Speaker: Mevrouw Ouwehand Party: PvdD

Speech: "Chair. The government had the King read that we actually always live in times of change, but I think this is also typical of the enormous confusion we have to deal with. I think it is fine to support GroenLinks' proposal, but I agree with Mrs Marijnissen's words that it would be beneficial for the outgoing cabinet to be clear about what we are going to do here today and in what context."

Speech Analysis

Speaker: De heer Omtzigt Party: Lid Omtzigt

Speech: "Chair. I think that solves the problem. That seems like an excellent proposal from the VVD. I've heard more strange things about bottles of wine. We can all talk about that in the debate. But I would like to explicitly agree with Mrs Marijnissen's request. I would like an update from the cabinet. We received a completely empty letter from the informant. We have now been forming for 185 days. Jules Verne was able to circumnavigate the world in 80 days. So he could go around the world twice. Neil Armstrong was able to go to the moon and back in eight days. So it could have been to the moon and back 30 or 25 times. And our cabinet doesn't even know if they want to talk to each other. So I would really like to receive a letter from Section K before the lunch break about the actual status of the formation. For the rest, we can get off to a good start with the VVD's proposal."
